I did not know Karie well. What I do know is that she and I were about to be first time grandmothers together. I know how excited she was to me her grandson. Karie was going to be a part of my life forever. I am heart broken for her daughters and for all of her family. I promise , Karie, to help look after and take care of Layla and our new grandson when he comes. My prayers will continue for your daughters. You will be missed and even though I did not know you well.. you will have a special place in my heart ❤️
