I know it's been a couple years at this point I never knew where to go with my opportunity to say goodbye and pay my respects. I didn't even know she was gone until valentine's day weekend. Alexandria Orr finally gave me the horrible news and I was just in such a state of shock and I felt my heart sink to my gutt and I was just like in a shutdown phase for like 3days. We had just reconnected after 2 years also and I was so happy to have her back in my life and then for 2 weeks from there I never heard from her again. I miss you sooo much sweetheart. I was always terrified to let my guard down around you and to open up to you because you were so awesome and I was afraid that I would lose you one way or another I guess it took a few years to get a little older to realize that I finally wanted to be with you in that sense but I never got to say goodbye I never even got to attend the service because I was told after the fact but if anybody sees this anytime soon I am so grateful for Ali getting a hold of me and telling me I haven't been the same since and I got reminded of you today or just recently ago and you've been on my mind for she's been on my mind a lot more than usual lately I just had to get this out so rest in peace baby girl I love you so much and I miss you. You will always have a place in my heart I'm crying at this very moment trying to finish this message but I hope your spirit gives me some comfort today so I can sleep good because I'm going to be thinking of you all night now once again I miss you more than anything and I always will and I adore your sons always did and it was such an honor when I met you back in 2008 when you said that your inspiration for your first born son was to name him after me but I guess so I'll see you again but not yet and you don't have to deal with all this chaos down here in the world anymore and I truly regret that we weren't able to let something really strong grow from it and now it's too late and sometimes I beat myself up about it I love you Nessa I hope sitting with my brother right now reminiscing about Goofy and fun and wild times about me.

“ There are so many memories with you baby girl. The one that makes me laugh the most is catching you and Lana sneaking outta the house. I love you Nessa. You will truly be missed. I know you are playing monopoly with Lana and fishing with your Daddy. Rest easy beautiful.
